EAT & DRINK

Oman has a long history as a state and through its history has made a great contribution to civilization. At one time Oman was an influential seafaring nation whose foreign relationships extended as far as China, the USA, Britain and France. Omani ambassadors have been presenting their credentials in the capital cities of these countries for about 200 years.

The cuisine of Oman recalls its role as a key trading post between east and west. Muscat is the dining centre of Oman and the best places to try some of the more interesting dishes of the Sultanate, including spectacular seafood hauled fresh from the Arabian Sea. Some of the tastiest dishes are reserved for big religious festivals. Local eschew alcohol in favour of strong coffee, flavoured with cardamom and served with dates and other sweet treats.

WHAT TO SEE

The Sultanate of Oman is a country of breath-taking natural beauty. As the oldest independent state in the Arab World, it has embraced modernization and progress while retaining the core aspects of its culture and heritage – making it the perfect travel destination for those seeking an authentic Arabian experience.

Muscat is the modern capital of Oman and offers visitors a stunning combination of old and new. From the architectural masterpiece that is the Sultan Qaboos Grand Mosque, to its mountain backdrop and breath-taking beaches, this city never fails to entertain and inspire.

There are five UNESCO heritage sites in Oman that, all of which are worth visiting.

Bahla Fort was inscribed as World Heritage Site in 1987 and has since been beautifully restored. The fort reopened to the public in late 2012.

Credited to the Bronze Age (3rd millennium B.C.), the archaeological sites of Bat, Al Khutm and Al Ayn in Ad Dhahirah make up the world’s most complete collection of beehive tombs.

In Dhofar, the Land of Frankincense encompasses the frankincense trees of Wadi Dawkah Reserve and the remains of caravan and trading settlements such as Ubar, Khawr Ruri and Al Baleed – highlighting the importance of frankincense for the flourishing trade in the region during ancient times.

This ancient watering method is deeply rooted in Oman’s heritage, with over 3000 aflaj – or irrigation systems – still in use today. Using gravity to transport water from springs, the fair management of these waterways plays an important role in communities around the country. Falaj Daris in Nizwa, one of Oman’s longest falaj, is still in use today.

The Ancient city of Qalhat in Sur. This site has an exceptional international value for trading between Oman and the ancient world civilizations. It’s considered as a distinctive example of the architecture and planning of active port cities in the middle ages.

HOW TO GET THERE

Oman is just seven hours direct flight from many European and Asian cities, and connected to North and South America, Austratia and Africa by direct flights or short transfers from neighbouring Gulf States.

There are three Airports; which are: Khaseab Airport, Muscat International Airport and Salalah Airport.

Oman Air is the national carrier of the Sultanate and is based at Muscat International Airport. In addition, there are several airlines that operate direct flights to Oman on a daily basis.

Distance of the race track to Muscat International Airport:

Upon arrival in Muscat International Airport, approximately 13.6 km or 14mins travel time. Car rental is an easily accessible option to benefit the maximum from your stay in the country; Taxis are also available.

DRIVING IN OMAN

Driving is on the right side of the road.

Traffic signs in Oman are typical, nothing drastically different. The traffic laws in Oman are comprehensive and strictly imposed. Speed cameras are placed every 1.2 miles (2km) in Muscat. Speed is measured in km/h, and signs are according to the ISO (European) system. Some basic pointers and considerations to think about when driving in Oman: The speed limits are 120km/h on motorways, 90km/h on open roads and between 40km/h and 80km/h in cities/urban places.

The numbers are in dual language with Arabic numbers at the top within the same sign. There is zero tolerance for driving while inebriated. It is illegal to use your phone while driving. Beware of stray animals on the road – rogue camels, random goats, etc.

In order to rent a car in Oman, you must have an international driving license. In addition, you will need to present an additional form of identification such as your passport. The minimum age for renting a car in Oman is 21, although this varies from one company to another and some rental companies set their minimum age as 25. You must have had your license for at least one year before being permitted to drive in Oman.
